

SOE is home to engineers and technicians working in various areas of industry.
Which SOE Professional Sector are you?

IRTE

Institute of Road Transport Engineers for engineers working in a wide variety of transport-related roles, including apprentices and technicians in the light vehicle, heavy vehicle, bus and coach sectors, and the Armed Forces.

IPlantE

Institution of Plant Engineers for engineers working in organisations where machinery and equipment operates, including buildings' facilities, manufacturing, for military purposes, for mass transport (such as railways), or in utilities (such as the power and water industries).

BES

Bureau of Engineer Surveyors for Engineer Surveyors, who independently assess plant and machinery for legal compliance and technical risk. BES membership will also interest building services engineers, technical health and safety professionals and those involved in engineering facilities.

Membership

Building your career with SOE

Joining SOE helps you get the most from your professional engineering career. SOE supports and guides you, offering a personal, professional and friendly service. Whether it's through sharing knowledge or providing practical advice, we can help you take the next step.

Gain

Engineering Council registration

Registration is the ultimate recognition an engineer can receive. SOE will guide you through the registration process to gain this worldwide-recognised qualification at CEng, IEng or EngTech level.

Post nominal letters

SOE members are entitled to use SOE post nominal letters (AMSOE, MSOE or FSOE) on business cards and CVs, which can enhance professionalism in the eyes of potential employers and make you stand out.

Learn and Improve

Tailored magazines and websites

As an SOE member, you'll benefit from regular, industry-leading technical magazines Transport Engineer or Plant Engineer, packed with news and developments and tailored to your professional needs. Also online at www.transportengineer.org.uk and www.plantengineer.org.uk, our websites contain enhanced content, including jobs and supplier directories.

e-news

You will also receive a regular e-newsletter, making sure you are the first to know about the latest SOE news and events.

Best practice guides

SOE's best practice guides help you become more effective at work.

Network

Events

SOE's regional network holds over 250 events a year, all over the UK. Many events are free for SOE members, regardless of chosen Professional Sector.

Online resources

At www.soe.org.uk you can log into 'My SOE' to view and update your personal information and preferences. Personalised news and events can be viewed in 'My Sector' and instant networking and knowledge sharing is possible in our online discussion forums.

Develop and Progress

CPD, career development, training help and advice

SOE members never stop learning, and know the importance of CPD. SOE will assist you in pursuing a range of CPD opportunities, including access to mentors and technical consultants and much more. You can take control of your professional development with mycareerpath, SOE's online recording tool to help you manage your career goals.

Jobs

Looking for work? SOE advertises vacancies online, so you'll be the first to learn about the best career opportunities.

"As a member of SOE, I achieved Incorporated Engineer registration with the Engineering Council. In addition, the SOE journals keep me up to date with what's happening in my industry. Similarly, I regularly attend BES presentations, which are very interesting".

Nigel Rapley

There are many opportunities to become more involved with SOE. You could volunteer for one of SOE's councils or local committees, or you could help other engineers gain registration with the Engineering Council by becoming a Professional Review Interviewer.
